

Bill 168 – Violence and Harassment in the Workplace Consultation

One-on-One at your location
$80.00 plus applicable taxes

The Ontario government has made changes to the Occupational Health & Safety Act, aimed at preventing workplace violence and harassment. This legislation comes into effect on June 15th, 2010.

This consultation - information session will focus on the employer's obligations and steps they must take prior to the deadline to become compliant with the new legislation, including:

- Assessing the risk of violence in their workplace
- Developing or revising employee policies
- Creating procedures around workplace violence and harassment
- Training your workers

Failing to comply with the legislation may result in hefty fines and other penalties from the Minister of Labour.

HR professionals from Beyond Rewards Inc., who specialize in assisting companies with their human resource, risk management, health and safety and training needs, will present this topic.
